Thanks

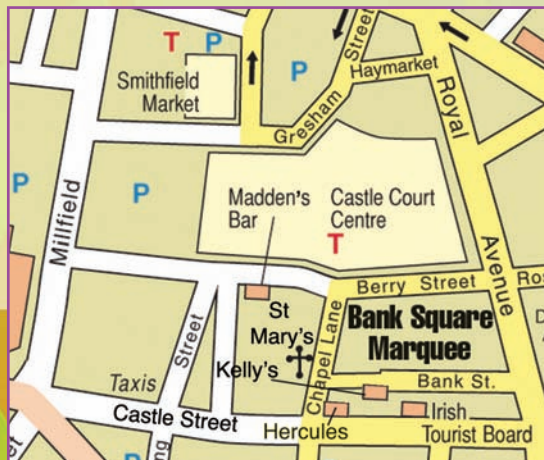

Féile would like to thank all their sponsors, venues, artists, volunteers, those who have worked to help produce this programme and all those who continue to support Féile an Phobail.

Dá mbeadh Naomh Brigid beo inniu, bheadh sí ar bís ticéid a fháil d'Fhéile an Earraigh, féile a dhéanann, dála a lae féin, ceiliúradh ar theacht an Earraigh.

Seanfhéile Phágánach a bhíodh á ceiliúradh ag an tráth seo den bhliain le rath na n-ainmhí agus na mbarra a dheimhniú agus mar chosaint in éadan droch-ratha.

I 2011, is ag baint tairbhe as Féile an Earraigh a bheas muid le tógáil croí a thabhairt dúinn le linn na géarchéime eacnamaíoch atá faoi lán tseoil agus tá clár foirfe curtha le chéile leis an aidhm sin a bhaint amach.

Chomh maith le ceol den chéad scoth ó Éirinn agus ó Albain, caithfidh an fhéile súil siar ar bheirt laochra iarthar Bhéal Feirste, an drámadóir/aisteoir Joseph Tomelty (an cuimhin le duine ar bith agaibh na McCooeys) agus an polaiteoir náisiúnaíoch, Joe Devlin. Beidh ceol ar na busanna, turas treoraithe ar an Sliabh Dubh agus Duibhis le hÉamonn Maguire, léargas iontach ar uisce bheatha agus cuairt chluíteach Tom Hartley ar Reilig na Cathrach.

Tours, Walks,

and Drama

WELCOME to 2011 and another year in Féile an Phobail's busy calendar of events beginning with Féile an Earraigh (our Spring Festival in the middle of Winter!), featuring four days of traditional/folk music, concerts, lectures, readings, workshops in a variety of instruments, tours and walks, and children's events.

Yes, enough sunny entertainment to banish the blues; a little bit of history; a reflection on contemporary events; and a fascinating snapshot of Belfast life for our international visitors to take home with them.

If you like music then I recommend: Dick Gaughan and Andy Irvine; Four Men and a Dog; Hothouse Flowers; the Red Hot Chilli Pipers; and Capercaillie; along with a string of the finest traditional musicians playing in local venues.

I would like to thank our funders, sponsors and partners (see back page) and our local businesses for their continuing, unwavering support, but most of all the Belfast community whose loyalty makes Féile an Phobail truly a festival of the people.

Bíodh craic mhaith agaibh, bainigí sult as na oícheanta ollphubail i gCeamóg Bainc agus an tsiamsaíocht áitiúil

'Human Trafficking' What Is The Assembly Doing? St Mary's University College. Thursday 3rd February, 4.30pm

A wealth of evidence suggests that people trafficking is taking place across the north of Ireland. The Anti-Trafficking Monitoring Group's launch in 2010 of 'Wrong kind of victim?... One year on... An analysis of UK measures to protect trafficked persons' contained specific information and recommendations. What is the Assembly doing about this issue and what should it be doing? Speakers: Sue Ramsay, Sinn Fein MLA & member of NI Assembly Health Committee; Anna Lo MLA, Alliance Party; and Patricia Lyness/Noelle Collins of Women's Aid. Chair - Patricia Campbell, Amnesty International. Free event. For further information contact Grainne: grainne.teggart@amnesty.org.uk In association with Amnesty International.

Dick Gaughan and Andy Irvine

The Life & Times of 'Wee Joe' Devlin

By Dr Éamon Phoenix, political historian and commentator

An Chultúrlann, Theatre
Thursday 3rd February, 6.30pm

'Wee Joe' Devlin was born in

Belfast's Hamill Street to poor parents in 1871. Educated by the Christian Brothers, he left to become a pot-boy in Kelly's Cellars and subsequently a journalist (Irish News). In the 1890s he emerged as a compelling orator and skilled organiser and went on to expose conditions in the mills and fought for reform. In 1906 he captured West Belfast, standing for Home Rule, revived the Ancient Order of Hibernians (AOH), but supported recruitment during WWI. He opposed partition and led the reunited nationalists into the Belfast Parliament after 1925. Devlin, who died in 1934, stands out as a working-class Catholic politician who blended pragmatism with social reform and won cross-sectarian support.

Irish Traditional Youth Orchestra Concert,

Glen Road Christian Brothers School
Thursday 3rd February, 6.30pm – 8pm

Eighteen young musicians, from the Andersonstown Music School, under the project direction of composer Neil Martin (West Ocean String Quartet), showcase their talent, encourage creativity beyond the boundaries of their cultural musical genre. Admission £5 (adults)

Dick Gaughan and Andy Irvine

The Baby Grand, Grand Opera House, Belfast

Thursday 3rd February, Doors 7.30pm for 8pm

This will be their first outing together in Ireland since the release of their acclaimed 1983 album, "Parallel Lines".

Glaswegian-born Dick Gaughan is a singer/songwriter, particularly of folk and social protest songs, and a major recording artist. His songs have been adopted by Billy Bragg, Christy Moore, Mary Black, Roy Bailey and Capercaille. He has been described as "the kind of voice that could stop a train in its tracks" (The Independent) and as "one of the most coveted and revered voices of recent times" (Rock'n'Reel).

Andy Irvine, one of the great contemporary Irish singers (and a founding member of Planxty), has been hailed as "a tradition in himself". As a soloist, Andy fills the role of the archetypal troubadour with a show and a travelling lifestyle that reflect his lifelong influence, Woody Guthrie. "Often copied, never equalled" (Irish Times), his repertoire consists of Irish traditional songs, dexterous Balkan dances and a compelling cannon of his own self-penned songs. Admission £10 – Tickets available from the Grand Opera House Box Office on 028 9024 1919 or www.goh.co.uk

Four Men and a Dog

Support from Stevie Dunne Band

Plus local support from Oonagh Derby

Bank Square Marquee

Thursday 3rd February, 8pm

Four Men and a Dog featuring Cathal Hayden, Gerry O'Connor, Gino Lupari, Kevin Doherty & Donal Murphy: each member a genius in his own right, the band plays an eclectic and vivacious blend of traditional Irish music with a wide spectrum of other genres, including rap, Southern rock, jazz, blues, bluegrass, polka, country swing, and even salsa! Stevie Dunne is a master of the guitar and tenor banjo, which he began playing at the age of 12 and 13 respectively! Here with his guest musicians they embellish the sound with subtle artistry, described as "Stunning" (Folkworld 2010) and "a breath of fresh air" (Irish Music Magazine). Our local slot features a performance by newly-formed, song-writing duo Oonagh Derby and Gerard Thompson. Admission (Strictly over 18s) - £10 Tickets available from all Féile Outlets. Bar until 1am.

IRISH ACTS

Tá an caidreamh idir Éire agus Alba ag dul ó neart go neart le scór bliain anuas ach bhí sé riamh láidir ó thaobh an cheoil de. Tá Féile an Earraigh ag ceiliúradh an chaidrimh sin agus laochra ceoil na hÉireann agus na hAlban agus iad cruinn le chéile do cheithre lá na féile.

Tá Four Men and a Dog ar na buíonta is fearr liom ar domhan, sár-cheoltóirí gach duine de na baill agus chomh cóngarach don ra'n'róil is a thig le grúpa traidisiúnta a bheith.

Is ionmhuin le bunadh Bhéal Feirste na Hothouse Flowers agus an fórsa nádúir Liam Ó Maonlaí mar cheann feadhna orthu ach b'fhiú luach an ticéid leis an bhuíon eile ar an ardán an oíche chéanna, Guidewires a chluinstin. Oíche dhodhearmadta romhainn.

Chomh maith, tá gach moladh ag dul don Fhéile leis an deis a thabhairt do cheoltóirí logánta - Stevie Dunne, fear a bhainseó, Gráinne Holland, the Wee Wierdies, Emerald Armada agus The Stride Set.

School Concert with Gráinne Holland

St Genevieve's High School
Friday 4th February, 2.15pm - 3.15pm

Not very often do up and coming stars have time to drag themselves away from the pressures (and pleasures!) of performing and rehearsing, to provide additional entertainment to the public. Community spirit is certainly not lost when it comes to Gráinne Holland performing an intimate concert with young people from St Genevieve's High School. Pupils will have the unique opportunity to not only experience one of Belfast's biggest rising stars, but also quiz her on their musical influences, her ambitions, biggest achievements to date, as well as some advice on what or what not to do!

School Event Only

Robert Ballagh Citizen Artist

Book Launch

An Chultúrlann

Saturday 5th February, 1pm

Here's an art-book with a difference. In readable jargon-less style, Ciaran Carty portrays the painter Robert Ballagh much in the manner of one of his own portraits. "I think artists should jump in at the deep end and experience everything," says Ballagh. True to his word, Ballagh has employed his status as an artist to speak out against injustice, racism and the abuse of power. His paintings are a dazzling iconography of Ireland during a period of hectic cultural and political change.

The Life & Times of Joe Tomelty

By Sean McMahon

An Chultúrlann, Theatre

Saturday 5th February, 2.30pm

March 5th marks the centenary of the birth of Joe Tomelty as he was universally known. For many years Joe was a novelist, dramatist and actor both in stage and films (where he starred with Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner). Joe must rank among the foremost Ulster literary figures of the last century but it was his radio scripts written weekly for the McCooeys, a Belfast soap that ran for seven years that made him universally known and loved. Guest speaker: Sean McMahon, writer and reviewer.

Red Hot Chilli Pipers

Support from Gráinne Holland & Band

Plus local support from The Wee Weirdies

Saturday 5th February, 8pm
Bank Square Marquee

Since they walked away with the top prize on UK primetime TV talent show, 'When Will I Be Famous' in 2007, the Red Hot Chilli Pipers haven't stopped for a breath, other than to inflate their bagpipes!

A fusion of traditional pipe tunes and contemporary anthems such as 'Clocks' by Coldplay, 'Chasing Cars' by Snow Patrol and a rock medley of Deep Purple's 'Smoke On The Water'. Prepare to be blown away!

Gráinne Holland has a sweet but powerful voice that is equally comfortable with the lively ballad and the haunting, slow Gaelic air. The Wee Weirdies are a band that remembers what music is about: soul, passion and spirit, influenced by Planxty, Pink Floyd and Radiohead to bring you a spellbinding, diverse show.

Admission (Strictly over 18s) - £10 Tickets available from all Féile Outlets. Bar until 1 am. Sponsored by Tennent's

'Room For One More?'
Drama by Brónagh Diamond
An Cultúrlann
Saturday 5th February, 8pm

Remember the first time you saw somebody in their pyjamas outside and thought, "What the hell?" Well, just imagine what our lovely tourists think! 'Room For One More?' is a short comedy based on a chance meeting between a girl and a young Polish man at a Falls Road taxi stand.

We all know that West Belfast is rich in culture and social diversity so let's have a look at how we see each other in 2010! We Irish are famous for laughing at ourselves because life is too short...but who can be in such a hurry that they can't get dressed in the morning! Admission - £5

SCOTTISH ACTS

Ní ag inse bréige a bhí 007 nuair a dúirt Sean Connery gurb é Dia a chruthaigh glór Karen Matheson, príomhamhránaí Capercaille, buíon atá ar an fhód le corradh le 25 bliana.

Tá Matheson agus a fear chéile Donald Shaw ar na lánúnacha is ceolmhaire sna críocha Ceilteacha agus tá áilleacht agus samhlaíocht sna hamhráin a cheolann siad, bíodh siad nuachumtha nó scríofa 400 bliain ó shin.

A mhalairt de vibe ar fad a gheobhaidh muid ó na Red Hot Chilli Pipers, ceann de na buíonta is corraithí a nascann an miotal trom agus an phib mhór!

Agus beidh na slóite ag tarraingt ar choirm Andy Irvine agus Dick Gaughan, dís a bhfuil cion i measc an phobail orthu agus a thuigeann ról lánach an cheoil i saol an duine.

Support from The Stride Set
Plus local support from Bruce Joseph
Bank Square Marquee
Sunday 6th February, 8pm

Argyll's Capercaillie have been associated with bringing traditional Celtic music to the world stage and its great resurgence. Led by the accordion and keyboards of founder Donald Shaw, they draw on the astonishing musical dexterity of traditional instruments, supplemented by the peerless voice of co-founder Karen Matheson.

The Stride Set, a six-strong line-up, was formed by Méabh O'Hare and Patricia Clark who were inspired to form a fiddle-based band. Their arrangements finely balance intricate harmony with driving rhythm. Bruce Joseph is one of the most natural and sincere acoustic artists on the contemporary scene. A mix of subtle harmonies and lyrical imagery merge to help create his honest and refreshing sound.
